with Fidel Castro for release of the 1.13 prisoners of the Bay of Pigs invasion today in appeared to be callent in the backwash of history.

A high-ranking Governmeat official, asked last night what effect the Cuban blockade would have on the proposed ransoming threw his hands in the air with a gesture indicating the deal is probably off.
New York Attorney Lames
B. Donovan is campaigning for a New York Senate seat while awaiting Mr.
Castro's decision on the offer of medicine and baby food for release of the prisoners.
